

PGC ANNOUNCES PREPARATIONS FOR 3RD BIENNIAL CONFERENCE OF THE POSTGRADUATE COLLEGE 2026

The Postgraduate College (PGC), Ahmadu Bello University, Zaria, has commenced preparations for the 3rd Biennial Conference of the Postgraduate College 2026, with the theme, “Innovative Postgraduate Research for Sustainable Development in the Era of Artificial Intelligence.”

An update on preparations for the forthcoming conference was presented to the College Board, including the approved theme, eight sub-themes and the proposed programme of activities for the conference.

The conference theme reflects the growing importance of innovative postgraduate research in addressing contemporary development challenges, particularly in a period increasingly shaped by artificial intelligence, digital transformation and emerging technologies.

The approved sub-themes are:

1. Artificial Intelligence, Digital Transformation and Global Emerging Trends
2. Postgraduate Education, Research Quality and Knowledge Production
3. Health, Biomedical Sciences and One Health Innovations
4. Agriculture, Food Systems, Environment and Climate Resilience
5. Engineering, Infrastructure, Energy and the Built Environment

6. Governance, Law, Security and Social Transformation
7. Finance and Administration in the Digital Economy
8. Humanities, Culture and Creative Industries in Sustainable Development.

The breadth of the sub-themes provides an interdisciplinary framework for postgraduate researchers to engage with issues cutting across science, technology, health, agriculture, engineering, governance, the social sciences, humanities and the creative industries.

According to the approved programme, participants are expected to begin arriving on Monday, 12th October, 2026. The Opening Ceremony, Preliminary Sessions and Technical Sessions are scheduled for Tuesday, 13th October, 2026, while the technical sessions will continue on Wednesday, 14th October, 2026.

The conference is expected to provide a platform for the presentation and exchange of postgraduate research, scholarly engagement and discussions on how research and innovation can contribute to sustainable development in an increasingly technology-driven world.

With the theme and sub-themes now approved, preparations are expected to progress towards the successful hosting of the 2026 Biennial Conference of the Postgraduate College.

LOFA COUNTY UNIVERSITY DELEGATION VISITS ABU, STRENGTHENING PROSPECTS FOR ACADEMIC COLLABORATION

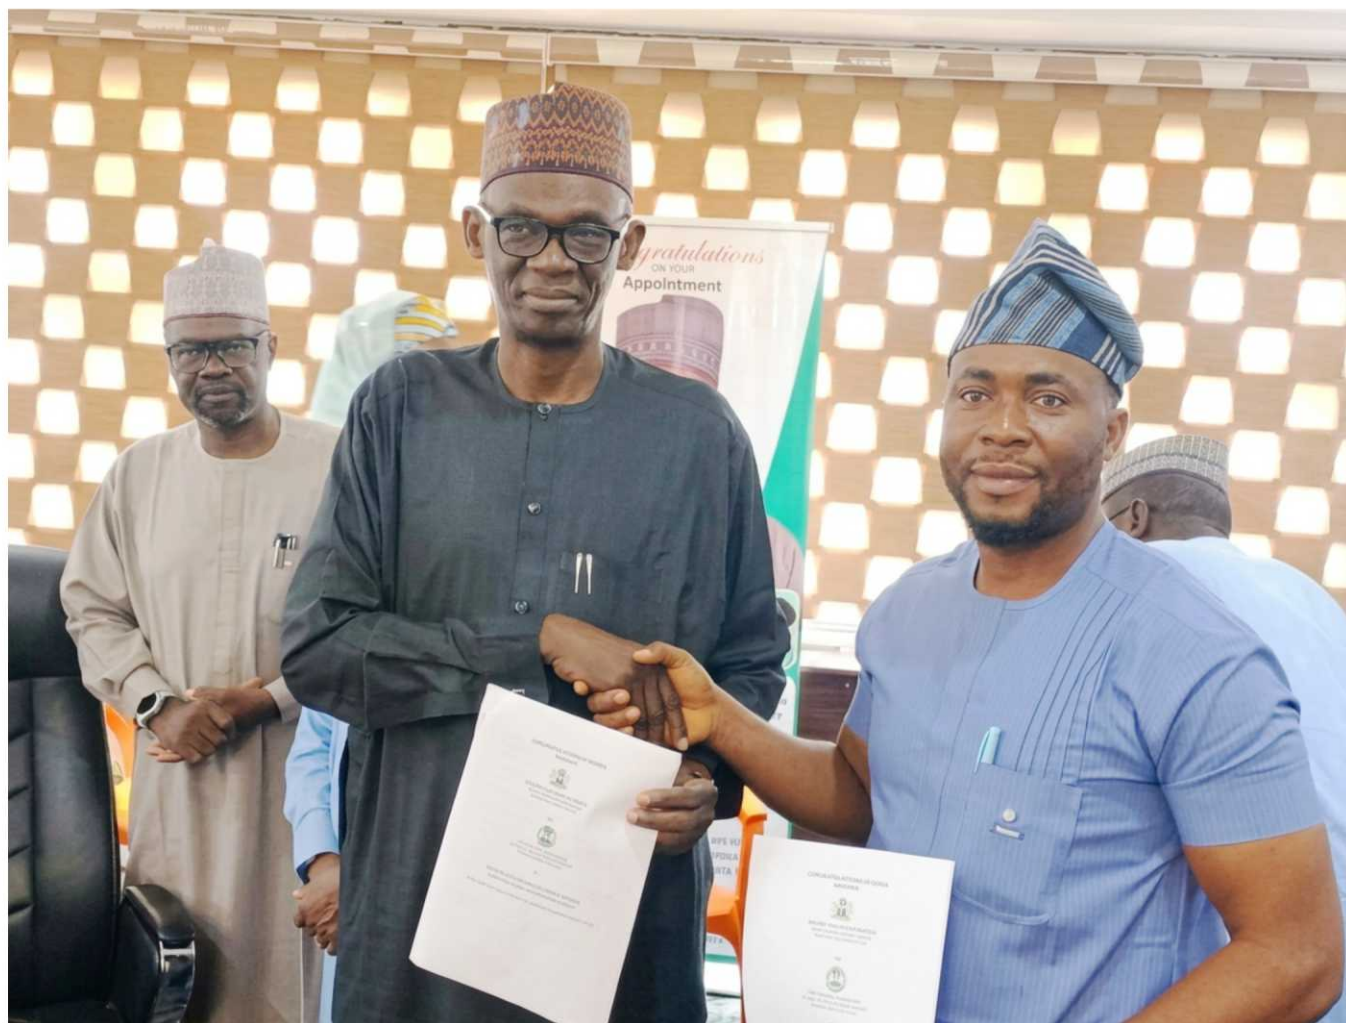

A delegation from Lofa County University (LCU), Liberia, led by the University's President and Chief Executive Officer, Dr. Isaac P. Podah, and Vice President for Institutional Development, Momo Taylor, paid an academic visit to Ahmadu Bello University (ABU), Zaria, beginning 3 August 2026, as part of efforts to establish stronger institutional links between the two universities.

The visit provided an opportunity for the LCU delegation to engage with Ahmadu Bello University on postgraduate education, academic development, research, institutional capacity building and opportunities for the professional development of LCU staff.

A major outcome of the engagement was the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) between the two universities. The agreement establishes a framework for academic cooperation, particularly in the areas of advanced studies, faculty development, research and institutional capacity building.

The MoU was signed on behalf of Lofa County University by Dr. Isaac P. Podah, while the Vice-Chancellor of Ahmadu Bello University, Prof. Adamu Ahmed, signed on behalf of ABU. The agreement represents a formal step towards developing sustained academic relations between the two institutions.

During their engagements at ABU, the visiting delegation toured a number of academic and learning facilities and held discussions with university officials and academic units. The visit enabled the delegation to gain a broader understanding of ABU's postgraduate programmes, academic infrastructure and research environment, while also examining areas through which the University could contribute to the professional development of LCU personnel.

Particular attention was given to postgraduate programmes that correspond with LCU's academic and staff-development interests. The areas examined included programmes in the Faculty of Agriculture, such as PhD programmes in Agronomy, Agricultural Extension, and Crop Science - Horticulture.

The delegation also considered programmes within the Faculties of Allied Health Sciences and Clinical Sciences, including PhD programmes in Nursing Education, Reproductive Health and Epidemiology. In the Faculty of Engineering, the programmes of interest included Civil Engineering with specialisation in Highway Structures, Electrical Engineering and Mechanical Engineering.

Further engagements covered programmes in the Faculties of Education, Arts, Life Sciences and Physical Sciences. These included Master's programmes in Science Education, covering Biology, Chemistry, Physics and Mathematics, as well as Educational Research, Measurement and Evaluation. PhD programmes considered in these areas included Early Childhood and Primary Education, English, and History/Geography.

The delegation also examined opportunities within the Faculties of Management Sciences, Administration and Social Sciences, particularly PhD programmes in Public Administration, Accounting and Economics.

The engagements provided the visiting university with an opportunity to assess the range of postgraduate opportunities available at ABU and the institutional environment supporting advanced academic training and research. For ABU, the visit further demonstrates the University's potential to contribute to international academic partnerships and capacity development beyond Nigeria.

Speaking during the visit, the President and CEO of Lofa County University, Dr. Isaac P. Podah, expressed appreciation for the opportunity to interact with members of the Ahmadu Bello University community. He said he felt humbled by the interaction with the University's staff and described the newly established partnership as only the beginning of what he hoped would become a broader relationship.

Dr. Podah expressed the hope that the collaboration would, in the future, extend to additional faculties and create further opportunities for engagement between the two institutions.

The LCU-ABU partnership is therefore expected to provide a basis for further collaboration in postgraduate education, research and staff development, while creating opportunities for the exchange of academic expertise and institutional experience.

PGC MOVES TOWARDS FULL DEPLOYMENT OF VIVA MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

The Postgraduate College (PGC), Ahmadu Bello University, Zaria, is set to commence the full operation of its newly developed PGC Viva Management System, following the successful deployment of the system and the completion of an orientation and training exercise for key stakeholders.

The development and deployment of the system represent another step by the College towards strengthening the digital management of postgraduate academic processes and improving the coordination of postgraduate viva activities.

The training exercise, conducted recently, brought together key users of the system, including Heads of Department, Postgraduate Coordinators and students. The exercise was designed to familiarise users with the operation of the newly introduced platform and prepare them for its adoption as the College moves towards full implementation.

The PGC Viva Management System is designed to support the management of postgraduate viva processes through a digital platform. Its introduction is expected to provide a more structured approach to the coordination and administration of viva-related activities and facilitate more efficient interaction among the various stakeholders involved in the process.

For Heads of Department and Postgraduate Coordinators, the system provides a digital framework through which postgraduate viva activities can be managed, while students are brought into the process through the platform as direct beneficiaries and users of the system.

The successful deployment and training exercise mark an important stage in the College's digital transformation efforts. By moving an important postgraduate academic process onto a dedicated digital platform, the College is positioning itself to improve the organisation and management of viva-related activities while reducing dependence on fragmented manual processes.

The initiative also reflects the increasing role of digital technology in postgraduate administration. As the College prepares for full operation of the system, its effective implementation will depend on continued user familiarisation, adherence to established procedures and collaboration among academic and administrative stakeholders.

The PGC Viva Management System is therefore expected to become an important component of the College's efforts to modernise postgraduate administration and strengthen the efficiency of processes associated with postgraduate research assessment.

With the deployment and initial training successfully completed, the College is now preparing for the transition to full operation of the PGC Viva Management System, further demonstrating its commitment to the adoption of technology in improving postgraduate education and administration.
